MR. B. MORAN, a prominent farmer of Charleston Bottom, died this morning at 7 o'clock. He leaves a wife and one child and a large circle of friends and relatives to mourn his loss. DR. KELLEY, who resides near Carlisle, was run over and killed last Saturday by the train due here at 8 p.m. The accident occurred one mile South of that town. Almost as Bad as Bunko.

We again warn our country friends to fight by the parties that travel through the country selling cloths, cassimines and dress goods. In connection with this, we advise gentlemen who are solicited by these fellows to travel with them for the purpose of securing introductions to responsible parties, whose notes can be readily sold, to consider well the use these parties make of them. It is a mild measure of bunko steering.

MR. DAN. S. BONNELL, who was stricken with paralysis several days ago, died at his home in this city at 10 o'clock last night. His physician had but little hope of his recovery from the beginning, and his death has been expected by his friends for several days. His last hours were devoid of any physical suffering, as he had passed into an unconscious state some time before his death. He was a good citizen, honored by all who knew him true, faithful and kind-hearted to his friends and relatives. He leaves a wife and three to mourn his departure. He has been a member of Ringgold Lodge, I. O. O. F., for years, and will be interred with the honors of that order to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The lodges of that and adjoining circles are invited to take part in the ceremonies. All members are asked to meet at half past one o'clock p.m.

In Memory of Longfellow.

The entombment last night at the Christian Church was the closing one of the series which was begun last fall. It was the intention to give it in the chapel as has been done heretofore, but long before the hour arrived that room became so crowded that the church was thrown open and was soon filled with an appreciative audience. Being given in commemoration of Longfellow, one of America's most honored authors, the songs, recitations, readings, essays and addresses had been arranged with that end in view. The exercises were opened with a prayer by Rev. H. B. Taylor, followed by a song, "The Psalm of Life," sung by Mrs. G. S. Judd, Mrs. M. C. Russell, Misses Hulett and Davis and Messrs. G. S. Judd, Jno. Mackley, Jas. Threlkeld, T. L. Holton and Rev. E. L. Powell. A recitation of one of Longfellow's poems was given by Miss Lila Smoot, after which Miss Jennie Taylor read a brief but interesting biographical sketch of the poet. Miss Smoot followed with a vocal solo, which was rendered in a pleasing manner, being accompanied by Mr. Judd on the violin, and Mr. Holton on the guitar. Misses Annie McDougle, Jennie Frazee, Blanche Crum, Sudie Berry and Florence Frank read interesting selections from the author to whose memory the exercises were devoted. The guitar solo by Mr. T. L. Holton was one of the most pleasant features of the evening and was received with the applause it richly deserved. The address was delivered by Rev. E. L. Powell, pastor of the church. At the close of the exercises, on motion of Rev. H. B. Taylor, the audience by a rising vote expressed their grateful appreciation to Mr. Powell and his helpers for the entertainments which have been given during the past season. It is the intention to renew them next fall. They have increased in interest from the beginning, and to Mr. Powell, who originated them, is due great credit.

Innocent Man.

MR. ARGO, who was arrested at Portsmouth for a large sum of States, Marshal Conroy, in his possession, mention of which was made in the news, was recently a resident of the city, where he was unknown and little known. Several of our prominent business men, however, have a very favorable opinion of him, and are anxious to have him released on his own recognizance, if any attempt to pass counterfeit money.

Mr. Argos is at present a resident of this city, but his business, that of teaching the art of detecting counterfeit money, keeps him away from here the greater part of his time. He married Miss Bratt, daughter of Dr. M. Bratt, who formerly made his home in this place. Mr. Argos was placed under arrest at Portsmouth last week on the charge above stated. The deputy marshal of course thought he had a "sure thing" on his prisoner. It transpires however that he was mistaken in his suspicion. Mr. Argos had his trial before the U. S. Commissioner at Portsmouth last Saturday and was acquitted. The Commissioner, Nelson W. Evans, in his decision says:

"I find that there is no evidence of criminal intent on the part of the defendant. That he is by occupation a teacher of the detection of counterfeit money and had when arrested, a considerable amount of it in his possession, in imitation of U. S. Treasury Notes, National Bank Notes, some silver and gold coin and old State Bank bills. That he held and used the same for an unlawful purpose, but for the purposes of teaching the detection of counterfeit money to any one desiring his services. I therefore found the defendant not guilty as charged and discharged him. While this charge upon its face relates only to counterfeit dollars I also examined the case so far as it related to the entire amount of money found in possession of defendant at the time of arrest and my findings as to all is that defendant was not in possession of it for any unlawful purpose."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla wonderfully improves the complexion, and brings to old and young the bloom of health. As a purifier of the blood it has no equal.

They May Come This Way.

To place our readers on their guard, we publish the following special from Millersburg to last Sunday's Enquirer:

"Sharps in the gait of life, insatiable for money, are to be found in every city before. They had the applicants pay the examination fees, issued the police and collected a poll tax, but hearing everything was not lovely. He intended the agent had given it to him, but the agent got the check cashed by a bank, so he was caught and made to hand over the money he had obtained. Although the agent was a good man, New York, it is safe to say they were really from the mountains of Kentucky."

A RECORD of the weather is kept at the Mayville Female Seminary. From it are gathered the following facts in regard to the month of January. The highest temperature was on the third day of the month, when the thermometer stood fifty-nine degrees Fahrenheit. The lowest was on the morning of the 12th when it stood fourteen degrees below zero. Commencing with Saturday morning the 9th the temperature was below zero for nearly eight continuous hours, or more than three days and nights, a very unusual thing in this latitude. The mean temperature of the month was twenty-seven and one-tenth degrees. There was a very remarkable fall of the barometer during the forenoon of Friday the 8th amounting to a full half inch. It will be remembered it was on the afternoon of that day the blizzard preceding the cold spell struck Mayville.
